

Safety & Fairness for Everyone (SAFE) Network: Long Beach

In 2019, Long Beach was selected to join the Vera Institute of Justice’s Safety and Fairness for Everyone (SAFE) Network—a growing group of jurisdictions around the U.S. that are committed to keeping families together and communities safe and strong by protecting due process and providing legal representation to immigrants facing deportation. SAFE Network Members have dedicated public funding to deportation defense, focusing on serving individuals who are detained.

Why representation matters

Because immigrants facing deportation do not have the guarantee of an attorney to represent them, 70 percent of detained immigrants face deportation alone.¹ Representation promotes due process and dignity, and results in better outcomes—represented immigrants are up to ten times more likely to establish a right to remain in the United States.²

Client Stories

Marco* is a long-time resident of Long Beach. He was brought to the United States as a child and does not know any other home. Growing up, he struggled with poverty and substance abuse, and he got caught up in the criminal justice system. However, he made great efforts to improve his life and completed both anger management and substance abuse programs. He even studied the legal system while in immigration detention and filed his own motions to vacate in his criminal proceedings. Marco's attorney reports that he is attentive, cooperative, and has sincere remorse for the mistakes he made. Although Marco was detained for six months and not initially eligible for a bond hearing, his attorney at Immigrant Defenders' Law Center fought for him and succeed in getting him released on bond.
